Non-art?

Sensual female bodies...have since long been a favorite 'topic' for artists, perhaps because art lovers and buyers alike love the tease...

To Monique van Doorn, a dutch artist and photographer who lives on the island of Curacao, this fondness of the body of a sexy woman turned out to be the catalyst that unleashed her talent. Each of her drawings is a testimonial of the inner strength and outer beauty of her female models. She craves the stimulation they trigger in her mind and she wants to share this with everyone through her drawings.

- Monique has been caught on many occasions saying that her drawings are not art... She refers to the fact that she doesn't make these drawings with the thought that they should qualify for some prize or distinction. Instead, Monique derives her kicks from the reactions and the triggers of the viewer..

Her "models" are local women – she sees and meets them everywhere on a daily basis. They dared to explore their sensual side, but they have not yet fully exposed their identities. Hence, the models are a little secret. Only Monique knows who they are, and she is not telling...

If you want to see and know more about this multitalent artist check her website at www.littlesecretbymonique.com.

Monique presented her latest exposition a week ago at "Head Over Heels", a trendy shoe store in Curacao where they sell amazing brands like Mario Valentino, Chinese Laundry, Rock & Republic and many more.

The reason why she selected this location was actually very simple. As said, next to being a great artist she is also a very talented photographer. Monique shot some amazing pictures of women and their passion for shoes.

Like most of you know, shoes and girls have the best relationship in the world, actually it's the perfect relationship. We love them, they are an important part of our live and we share all the good and bad moments in life with them but most of all... they make us happy and beautiful.

We from My Fashion Lifestyle loooooove the "Shhh...women should stick to high heels..." pictures on Facebook.

Also check out our photogallery to see the work of Monique and let us know what you think; Art or Non-Art??

We say ART in capitals!!!
